FINANCE AND TRADE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, June 30, 1875.

Our remarks on the subject of the interest on daily balances of bankers as affected by the Clearing House settlements have brought us several letters from parties not familiar with that institution asking information as to its modus operandi.

A very full and complete account of the Clearing House systems of this and other countries were to be found in the Banker's Magazine for this month—a periodical by the way that every banker should subscribe for and read. From this report we find that the Clearing House of this city was organized in 1865, and that there are but seventeen banks in the association. All the other banks, with the exception of three, we believe, clear through those that are members.

The method of clearing is as follows: Each bank sends a clerk and a messenger to the Clearing House, who meet at 9 A. M. to deliver and receive packages of checks, which have been carefully assorted beforehand and put up in large, unsealed envelopes. This interchange is quickly effected, the settlements are soon ascertained, and the assemblage disperses.

The debtor banks pay in from 10:30 to 11 o'clock A. M., in sealed packages of either bank or Government notes, receiving the manager's receipt, and the creditor banks receive their balances from 11 to 11:30 o'clock A. M., the manager taking a receipt from them.

The process is simple and short, yet it saves the time of at least one man to each of the banks, all the trouble of counting the money paid out for checks on themselves, the verification of payments received from other banks and the risk of carrying so much money through the streets. In this connection, our attention has been called, by one of our city cashiers, to a fact brought out in comparing the reports of the clearing house associations of other cities with that of Pittsburgh, which marks the extraordinary influence the past year has had on the business interests of this city.

In the case of every other city, the reports show a yearly increase in the amounts of the clearings and balances paid, while in the case of Pittsburgh, starting with a total of exchanges in 1866 of $83,731,242 17 and increasing to $295,754,858 83 in 1873, the exchanges for 1874 were but $257,548,600 75, being a decrease for the year of $38,206,258, or nearly one-half of the total business of the the banks for 1866.

These figures bring out in succinct form, the extraordinary depression of our local industries, as compared with those of other cities where the panic, at its height, was felt as severely as it was here.

OFFICE OF TRASK & STONE,
BANKERS AND BROKERS, NO. 7 NEW STREET,
NEW YORK, June 29, 1875.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

Opening prices at the Exchange this morning manifested a good deal of firmness which gradually increased into a strong market, the tone of which induced many who had been merely "lookers-on" into purchasing, with the view of a handsome rise. They were, however, disappointed, for with the exception of Western Union, Lake Shore and Union Pacific, first prices were about the best of the day. The former has been well sustained by active purchases, and at one time Lake Shore seemed infused with new life, with a promise of a good advance. Union Pacific, which had been dull at the opening, took an upward leap to 77, settling off to 75 at the close. Pacific Mail was strong at the opening but failed to keep its strength, as large blocks of stock were constantly thrown upon the market. This may be in consonance with the programme of the chief operator who, if as reported is long of this stock is anxious to induce large short sales of it, while on the other hand, it is believed that the general market has been firmly held in order to unload Pacific Mail on unsuspecting operators. With the latter view we do not sympathize but think that the market is left entirely to the tender mercies of speculative brokers who are manipulating it for the purpose of making quick turns although with moderate profits. The market closes steady at the decline.

Yours truly, TRASK & STONE.

—The following is republished for the benefit of a correspondent at Karns City: The act of April 2, 1873, defines what days shall constitute legal holidays, and provides that whenever the 1st of January, 22d of February, 4th of July, or 25th of December, shall occur on Sunday, Monday shall be deemed and declared a public holiday, and all bills of exchange, checks, drafts or promissory notes falling due on either of the Mondays so observed as a holiday, shall be due and payable on the Saturday preceding such holidays.

Gold Closed at 117.

MONEY.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Money easy at 2½@3 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3½@5 per cent.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Sterling steady at 486½@487 for sixty days and 489½@490 for sight.

GOLD

Opened at 117¼, declined to 116⅞ and closed at 117. Borrowing rates 1-64@2 per cent. Carrying rates 1@2 per cent. Loans also made flat. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $1,163,600. Clearings $25,000,000. Customs receipts $149,000.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

Governments firm. Railroad bonds strong. State securities quiet. At the Stock Exchange there was a further advance in values and an active movement in some shares. Western Union stock rose under the success of the loan, and was in free demand. The report that the Lake Shore Executive Committee had met, and that the earnings for six months were 1¼ per cent. on the stock, also created a good feeling. The Mariposa fancy continues to attract speculative interest. The stock sold at 11¾@12 per cent. for ordinary, and 12@12¼ for preferred. It is being bought by Californians. Western Union advanced from 78 to 79⅜, and closed at the highest point. Lake Shore advanced from 61⅛@62⅛ and closed at 61⅞. Union Pacific was firm at 76@76⅜, closing at 76@76⅛. Pacific Mail advanced from 40¼@41¼ and afterward fell off to 39⅞. Northwestern advanced to 40¼, but subsequently reacted to 39⅞. St. Paul, after selling down to 33¼, advanced to 33⅞@34. Rock Island rose from 103⅞@104. Erie advanced from 13⅞@14⅛, and reacted ⅛ per cent. in the late dealings. Transactions at the Stock Exchange aggregated 178,000 shares, of which 31,000 shares were Pacific Mail, 69,000 Western Union, 8,600 Northwestern, 13,000 Erie, 59,000 Lake Shore, and 8,600 Union Pacific.

GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
WEDNESDAY, June 30, 1875.

Trade circles to-day were generally quiet, with hardly a ripple to vary the even surface of affairs. In some lines of trade there is a slightly depressed feeling, which is especially the case with grain. In this department of business the position presents no new features, and the dullness and depression heretofore reported still hold sway. Produce is moderately active in the way of green truck, but is otherwise quiet, with a good trade reported in cheese. Provisions are quiet. Groceries are rather dull, and present no new movements except in foreign fruits, in which there is an upward movement. Dry goods and general merchandise are doing a fair trade at [illegible] values. Wool is moving more freely, at the values offered by buyers, although Eastern purchasers are still somewhat inclined to hold off. Petroleum was quiet and unchanged, but presented some interest from the fact that oil was being delivered in this city to-day, direct from the wells by pipe, thus decreasing the cost of crude to our refiners some 30c ⅌ bbl. The aggregate volume of trade was fully up to the average of the season, this being a time when dealers expect business to become rather slack.

An observant and reliable gentleman of this city, who recently returned from a Western trip, gives the result of his observations as to the condition of the crops in Southern Ohio, as follows:

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

At this season when the crops are growing, no more interesting trip could be taken than over the Pan Handle Railroad between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. Your correspondent had the pleasure of making such a trip in daylight last Sunday, June 27th, and for the information of your agricultural readers, he will state that generally the wheat looks poorly east of Columbus. Rye is fair but thin. He observed but one single field of rye cut, and that was about ten miles east of Columbus. Corn all along has a good color—not over ten inches high until he struck the Little Miami Valley, where it was strong and vigorous, two feet high. The Little Miami was in a flood, and the country generally betokened that rains had been prolific west of Columbus.

The Little Miami Valley like its neighbor further west is, however, one of the garden spots of the Buckeye State and good crops there are always expected.

Fruit everywhere seems to have been killed by the spring frosts, and it is fair to presume that we must depend entirely on New York and the northern Pennsylvania and Ohio counties for apples this coming fall; the price will undoubtedly be high. At Cincinnati the river was at about a fourteen feet stage at the very time the rivermen are complaining so much about the trouble of passing the bar at the mouth of the Muskingum at Marietta. This shows conclusively that the rains have not extended very far east. There is no doubt had not Buffington Island been considerably improved the rivermen would never have been caught at Marietta with their boats. But this is a fact that some of them are slow to recognize.

R.

In connection with the same subject the following from the Baltimore American in reference to the Maryland crops, is of interest: "All accounts now coming forward in regard to the wheat crop in this State, as well as elsewhere, are very encouraging. As an earnest of what may be expected in this State we noticed yesterday at the Corn Exchange, some very fine heads of wheat, full and weighty, and nearly ready for the hand of the reaper, sent from the region of the Gunpowder river in Baltimore county, a locality which some weeks back was suffering very severely from drought. It is very evident that the timely showers which have visited us during the past three or four weeks have thoroughly changed the crop prospects in this and adjoining States, so that now where there were apprehensions of great scarcity, the fields are giving promise of at least fair average yield."

The receipts of the leading articles of produce since our last are as follows:

The quotations given in the following reports are prices realized in wholesale transactions, unless otherwise specified. On small sales, dealers will charge an advance. Sales of grain, unless stated to the contrary, are free of elevator.

Grain, Flour and Feed.

GRAIN—The universal feeling in grain circles is one of dullness and depression. Receipts continue very light, being only [illegible] bushels of all kinds of grain for the week ending to-day. There is little alteration of any character to notice. Wheat is quiet but steady at about former prices. The Western markets are firmer and the scarcity of [illegible] renders holders very tenacious. [illegible] tions are prices generally offered, and it would be difficult to purchase much wheat at the prices quoted. We note transactions of 2 cars No. 2 spring [illegible] at $1 20. We quote choice [illegible] and Michigan white winter wheat [illegible] @1 45 per bushel; Ohio and Illinois [illegible] @1 40; Ohio and Illinois amber $1 3[illegible] and Pennsylvania red winter [illegible] spring wheat is steady, No. 2 Chicago at $1 20. Corn continues extremely [illegible] considerably depressed, although some look for a better demand and higher [illegible] in a few days. We note transactions including 1 car shelled corn high-mixed at 76c; 1 car do 77½c; 1 car yellow [illegible] 76c; 1 car do 78c. On 'Change to-day [illegible] bid for prime yellow ear. We quote [illegible] nominally at 76@77c per bushel for [illegible]; 72@73c for low-[illegible] 75c for high-mixed. We quote car at 76@78c for [illegible] white. We quote [illegible] 75c for mixed and white. Oats were [illegible] at about previous quotations [illegible] the advance on oats in Chicago makes [illegible] comparatively cheap. We noted [illegible] 2 cars white oats to arrive at 65c; 2 cars [illegible] elevator 64c; 2 cars do 64c; 2 cars [illegible] 63c; 1 car do 64c; ½ car do 64c. [illegible] 64c for white; 61@62c for mixed, w[illegible] dency still downward. Rye was [illegible] $1 15@1 18 per bushel. Jobbing pr[illegible] and oats ruled 3@4c above these qu[illegible]

FLOUR—The market continu[illegible] at good prices which are held firm[illegible] tions. Receipts are 11,123 [illegible] the week ending to-day. [illegible] the wholesale prices of [illegible] millers as follows: No. 1 white [illegible] $7 50 ⅌ bbl; No. 1 amber wheat [illegible] red wheat flour $6 40; in sacks [illegible] bbl. The jobbing prices [illegible] dealers are as follows: Choice white winter wheat flour $7 00@7[illegible] sin $6 00; Minnesota $6 25@[illegible] 50; wheat flour $6 50; rye flour $6 00; [illegible] $6 25@6 75; self-raising flour, in 6[illegible] $3 75 ⅌ dozen packages; cornmeal [illegible] meal $8 50@9 00.

HAY—There is a weak market [illegible] receipts aggregating 2,906 bales [illegible] week. We heard of sales of 1 car [illegible] at $21 00; 1 car do $19 50; 1 c[illegible] We quote prime timothy, [illegible] $20 00@21 00 ⅌ ton; No. 2, $18 00@[illegible] prairie nominally $16 00@17 00. [illegible] store were slow at $23 00@25 00. [illegible] is selling at $26 00@28 00 for No. 1, [illegible] for No. 2.

MILL FEED—The market is a[illegible] siderably shaded prices. We quote [illegible] @$1 00 ⅌ cwt; shorts $1 20@1[illegible]; middlings $1 45@1 55 ⅌ cwt; ch[illegible] $1 60@1 70 ⅌ cwt; oil meal $1 90@2 [illegible]

Country Produce.

Petroleum.

July 1.—The petroleum markets yesterday were steady and not quotably changed. There had been a strong effort made to carry up the price of crude late on the previous day which was so far successful as to effect sales of small lots as high as $1 03¾ for United at wells, but the market dropped back and was quoted yesterday at about previous figures. Refined was quiet and dull.

CRUDE—We quote United at wells at $1 00@1 01¼; Union do 92½@95c; outside lines do 90@92½; immediate shipment on the cars at Parkers, $1 20@1 25. Sales were 47,500 barrels at Parkers, and 1,500 barrels at other points in the oil regions. There was a considerable effort on the part of holders to put prices up, with the intention, it is thought, of unloading and covering shorts for the close of the first six months, which took place yesterday, and it is said that about 47,000 barrels were so unloaded and covered yesterday, at prices ranging from $1 00@1 03¾. The Columbia Conduit Company yesterday commenced hauling oil across the tracks of the Western Pennsylvania Railroad, and is now steadily at work, with a daily capacity of 4,000 barrels. This affords a reduction in cost of bringing oil here of 30c ⅌ bbl, which will prove of great advantage to our refiners. The Parker City Daily has seen fit to change its mind since it attacked the free pipe bill, and now in connection with the fact that the Union, Grant and Karns pipe lines have removed the bars and will hereafter load oil in barges, providing demand is made, and that the Columbia Conduit Company has commenced the delivery of oil in this city says: "The same may be said of the last effort to confine the transportation of oil to a certain line and the manufacture to a certain few. You might as well try to padlock the jaws of Vesuvius as to undertake to clasp those of free trade for any length of time, and the greater and more magnified the attempt, the sooner will it begin to crumble and break away. Evidences of this are plain to every one conversant with the history of the oil business during the past six months. Every effort put forth to monopolize any particular branch or branches has proved futile, and never since the first pipe line was laid, did the business put on a more satisfactory garb than at the present time. The pipe lines, though associated mutually, are cut loose from that which held them tight by agreement, new lines are being opened and a general day of competition and freedom of action seems inevitable. To-day the Conduit Line, under the management of Messrs. Benson, McKelvy, Brough and Bonham, will commence the work of moving oil, but are obliged to use a line of truck wagons instead of their pipe, because of the stubborness of the Pennsylvania Central road in refusing to grant the right of way. While this state of things at Power's Run exists, the laws of free trade are padlocked, and the result, at no distant day, will be damaging to him or those who hold the key."

REFINED.—There is a quiet market, and refiners are holding off both on [illegible] the low prices prevailing, and the [illegible] that they can better their position after the first of the month, by either a rearrangement of the conditions of the Central Refiners Association or a dissolution of that body, and by utilizing the Columbia Conduit Company's pipe. We quote standard white on the cars at 9@9¾c as to position. New York delivery rules at 11⅞@12c for prompt and early July. Philadelphia is quoted at 11⅞c for spot and first half of July. Baltimore rules nominally at 11⅞@12c.

OIL BARRELS—Continue dull and depressed at $1 25@1 30 for city; $1 10@1 15 for country; 70@80c for second-hand.

[By Western Union Telegraph.]

TITUSVILLE, June 30.—The Herald says: It was plain to be seen that immense efforts were made again to-day to bull the crude markets of the oil regions, and a similar line of tactics to what took place yesterday was followed, and while nearly all the brokers had numerous small lots to purchase at constantly advancing prices, the longs were preparing to unload. In this manner, United at wells was pushed up to $1 05@1 07½ before 3 P. M., and finally about 30,000 or 40,000 bbls were unloaded by Oil City, ranging between $1 00@1 03¼, after which the market declined to 98¾c bid, for fresh certificates, dated July 1st. Sales:

500 bbls. Upper creek, spot	$1 26¼

NEW YORK, June 30, closing 2½.—Exporters do not exceed as a rule 11⅝c in their bids, and 12c is quite generally asked, and the market is very dull. Sales are 900 barrels refined in Philadelphia, deliverable July 15th to 20th at 11⅞c, and 5,000 barrels deliverable by July 15th at 12c. The closing prices are as follows: Crude in bulk 5⅝c for prompt, and 5⅞@6⅛c for July; do in shipping order 7¼@9¾c; refined 11⅞@12c for prompt, and 12c for July 15th; cases 17@18¼c; naptha 8¾@9c. For Philadelphia delivery refined is quoted at 11⅝c for spot, and 11¾c for July. At Baltimore refined rules at 11⅞@12c.

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—Market quiet; standard white 11⅞c; cases 17½c; crude 5¼c; no sales and no futures offering.

TITUSVILLE, June 30.—Market quiet but firm at $1 27½@1 30.

OIL CITY, June 30.—Market dull with nothing doing at $1 25@1 27½.

ROUSEVILLE, June 30.—Market quiet but steady at $1 25@1 27½.

TIDIOUTE, June 30.—Market firmer; sales at $1 27½.

PARKERS, June 30.—United at wells offered at $1 01¼c; shipment nominally $1 25; market quiet.

Groceries.

The market continues to be rather quiet with a steady but rather slow order demand, partaking largely of the hand-to-mouth policy which retailers have pursued for so long a time. Prices are generally unchanged. Sugars are steady but rule lower here relatively than in New York. Molasses and syrups were rather dull and easy. Rice and spices are steady and unchanged. Coffee is quiet; a little strength was created in New York by the information that a large amount of coffee had been destroyed by the earthquake in Venezuela, but as this market trades principally in Rio and Java, it was not sensibly affected by the report. Teas are steady. We quote as follows:

The New York Bulletin reviews the tea market of that city for the past week as follows: "Tea has been more active than for some weeks. New Japan tea has sold more freely, though it must also be stated that it has been pressed on the market at an easy price; the business in this description from the 21st instant to the 28th embraced 2,450 half chests. Green sold to the extent of 5,350 half chests during the same time at prices in buyers' favor. Of old Japan there have been sales of 5,709 half chests at a concession, and of Formosa-Oolong 2,769 half chests have been sold. An auction sale late in the week resulted in a decline in most descriptions offered, and the effect on the regular market of this further reduction in auction prices has been apparent in the pressure of considerable lots on buyers at easy figures. The trade in lines has been small."

FOREIGN FRUITS—There continues to be an active trade at improving prices. We note still another advance in oranges and lemons. We quote: Raisins—layers ⅌ box $2 75; London layers do $4 25; Valentias 11½c ⅌ ℔; Sultanas 18c. Dates 8¼@9c ⅌ ℔; currants—new 7½c; citron 35c; prunes 8¾c. Almonds—Languedoc 25c; do shelled 38c; do Princess 37c; do Jordan 50c; do Ivica 23c. Walnuts—Naples 16c; French do 14c. Sicily filberts 15c. Smyrna figs 18@20c. CANNED GOODS—The market is quiet and without change. We quote: Tomatoes, 3-℔ cans, ⅌ doz, $1 60@2 00; peaches, 3-℔ cans, ⅌ doz, $3 25; corn, 2-℔ cans, ⅌ doz, $2 60; Lima beans, 2-℔ cans $2 25; string beans, 2-℔ cans, $1 75; cherries, 2-℔ cans, $2 25@2 50; blackberries, 2-℔ cans, $1 75@2 00; strawberries, 2-℔ cans, $2 25; raspberries, 2-℔ cans, $2 50; asparagus, 2½-℔ cans, $3 75; pineapples, 2-℔ cans, $2 00; pears, 2-℔ cans, $2 25; pint pickles, ⅌ doz, $1 25; quart pickles, ⅌ doz, $2 35; gallon pickles, ⅌ doz, $3 90; bbls, containg 1,300 pickles, $9 00; ½ bbls containing 600 pickles, $5 25.

TOBACCO—The market is steady with a moderately good demand and unchanged values as follows:

Dry Goods.

There is a fair movement of merchandise with jobbers at steady values. Jobbers are generally preparing for stock-taking, and in order to reduce stocks on hand to as low a condition as possible prior to that event, they have worked down to low figures all goods of a spring character. The inquiry was the same as reported for some time past, and was confined mostly to prints, dress goods, and shawls. A very quiet feeling prevailed in the market for millinery and fancy goods, and the demand was restricted to a few transactions on order account, and a light business with city retail dealers. No changes occurred in prices which we quote as follows:

NEW YORK, June 30.—The trade movement is fairly active with woolen goods commission houses, but all other branches are quiet. Prints are dull in first hands; Garner's prints advanced ⅛c by leading jobbers, but agents rates are unchanged. Bleached shirtings are more inquired for, but sales are light. Low grade Kentucky jeans are in good demand and fancy cassimeres are more active in first hands.

Wool.

There has been considerable improvement in the movement in wool, and farmers are showing much more disposition to accept the prices offered by buyers, which are some 4@5c below their asking prices of two weeks ago. Eastern buyers still talk lower prices, but the local buyers are generally taking hold and the new clip is moving at about our former quotations. We are cognizant of the purchase this week, of lots of tub-washed and fleece wools aggregating about 50,000 pounds at the quotations given below. A good deal of the stock offered as fleece wool in this market, should really be classed as unmerchantable, and unless considerable discrimination is exercised in sorting, will cause loss and trouble to dealers. We revise our quotations as follows: Pennsylvania, Ohio and W. Virginia fleeces fine 40@42c per ℔; medium do 45@46c; coarse and unmerchantable do, 35@42c; tub-washed 46@47c; combing washed 48@50c; do unwashed 32@35c; pulled wools 40c. There is little demand for fine wools and they are difficult to sell except at quotations; medium fleeces and combing wools are in fair request at quoted prices. We present the following extracts showing the condition of the wool market throughout Ohio:

The market has been at a standstill. The last week buyers have made some advance in prices, reaching as high as 45 cents, but farmers hold for a higher figure, and but very little can be purchased short of 50c per pound.—Coshocton Democrat.

Wool is mostly clipped in this region, but not moving much. Farmers want 45@50c, and from late advices buyers are unwilling to pay more than 40c. We believe, however, that wool will move lively within the next ten days at 40@45c, or about that, as there seems to be a poor prospect for an advance and no [illegible]ement to hold.—Barnesville Enterprise.

In this [illegible] vicinity no wool has yet passed hands. [illegible] their clips until prices are disposed to hold better. We understand [illegible] to suit them Moorefield, has brought several [illegible] neighborhood of Flushing and Ken[illegible] 45c, and that James Shepherd & Son, of [illegible] town, have purchased several lots at 45c, this being their maximum price.—St. Clairsville Gazette.

We have heard of no wool selling on new contracts as yet, except a few small lots, at 40 cent. Growers are holding out, as a rule, for 45 cents per pound.—Noble County Republican.

The wool market opens in Napoleon at 40@45c ⅌ ℔.

The opening figure for wool at Springfield is not above 40c.

Wool growers in Noble county expect to obtain from 45@50c for their wool.

The Belmont county clip will not be so large this year as last; 40@45c is the opening figure.

In Noble county several small lots of wool have changed hands on contracts made last year at 45c.

In Zanesville buyers offer 42c, but growers don't seem disposed to sell at that figure.

In Norwalk, Huron county, one sale had been made on the street at 43c.

The wool buyers of Delaware are paying 45c for wool, and are anxious to get it at that figure.

[By Associated Press.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—Wool is in fair demand with the supply increasing, and prices steady. Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, double extra and above, 49@50c; extra 49@50c; medium 51@52c; coarse 45@48c. New York, Michigan, Indiana and Western, fine, 46@48c; medium 50@52c; coarse 45@48c. Combing, washed, 58@60c; do unwashed 42½c; fine, unwashed, 33c; coarse and medium, unwashed, 30@40c; tub-washed, 50@55c; extra and merino, pulled, 40@45c; No. 1 and super, pulled, 40@45c.

BOSTON, June 30.—Wool is generally unchanged with the demand steady; Pennsylvania and Ohio fleeces are selling at 50@55c for extra up to treble extra; good lines of double extra are ranging at 52@53c; combing and delaine fleeces are in fair demand at 40@47c for unwashed; the latter is now an extreme figure for good lots of Kentucky. Pulled wools—sales are moderate at 40@55c as to quality.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

State of the Market.

CATTLE.

A cloud has been hanging over the market for a time, nor has it been lifted. One of the most far-seeing dealers, on being interviewed as to the state of the market, remarked about as follows: There is a fair supply of cattle in the market, but there are few buyers for common grades and sales difficult to make, and prices are off from last week fully 25c. Those dealers who sent cattle to the country for grass last week will have to keep them there for a time, as it is hard to say when the market will be better. Following are the prices ruling to-day:

Extra fat, 1,400 to 1,600 ℔s steers	$6 75@7 00
Choice beeves, 1,200 to 1,300 ℔s	6 25@6 50
Butchers' stock	5 00@5 50
Common, half fat	4 00@4 50
Common cows and heifers	3 50@4 00

HOGS.

The supply was equal to the demand, and during the week the markets were moderately active until late Tuesday, when it became sluggish, and so continued to-day. We lower quotations from last week, 10 to 15c from those of Saturday and Monday, and note a general dullness in all grades of heavy hogs. We quote as follows:

Philadelphias	$7 50@7 60
Light Yorkers	7 15@7 35
Heavy Yorkers	7 00@7 15
Roughs	6 00@6 50

SHEEP.

The sheep market was pronounced the dullest and lowest that has ruled for more than five years. We warned our Western dealers not to send sheep forward on an over-stocked market, but they did not heed the warning, and the result has been that thousands have been shipped home again, where had they remained their owners would have been better off to-day. If the dealers in sheep want to make money, we suggest, that for a time, they stay at home and sell one to the other, and thus save freight and other incidental expenses. If there is any market for sheep, the following will aproximate it closely:

Extra, 90 to 100 ℔s	$4 25@4 75
Common, 70 to 75 ℔s	3 00@3 25
Scallawags	1 00@2 00

Sales and Purchases.

The following sales and purchases were made by the leading commission men, resident buyers for the Eastern markets and rural and local butchers and feeders. It will be seen that we give the number in each lot sold, their weight and the price paid. A glance at the figures will suffice to show the ruling of the market on all kinds of stock for the week ending at noon to-day. And just here we wish to state for the benefit of one or two doubting Thomases that the sales and purchases we give are not bogus, but taken from the dealers' books, who, being gentlemen of strict probity, are willing at any time to vouch for the correctness of our figures:

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WHEELING, W. VA., June 30, 1875.

Weather clear and warm. River 4 feet 10 inches and rising. Departed—Science for Parkersburg.

For Additional Dispatches see Fourth Page

Wednesday's Wheeling Intelligencer says:

The river continues stationary, with 4 feet 2 inches in the channel.

The Monitor yesterday left for Pittsburgh with two light barges and a stave boat.

The Robin left for Pittsburgh with two barges loaded with staves and a light barge.

The Courier is being painted with scrubbing brushes and soap.

In coming up the river yesterday the James Rees came near running over a skiff containing two children, near the Washington mill. The skiff was caught under the guards, and the children rescued and put ashore.

There is an innumerable lot of snags, logs, etc., between Ironton and Guyandotte, three miles above Huntingdon.

THE steamer Exchange, Captain Shuman, is among the first boats due.

MONONGAHELA—3 feet 7 inches and falling.

Boats Advertised for This Day.

Brownsville and Geneva .... 8 A. M and 4 P. M.

THE marks last evening indicated three feet seven inches and falling. The weather during the day was pleasant.

THE steamer Ashland, Captain Kyle, left for Cincinnati with a fair trip.

LOUISVILLE.—Wharfmaster Kremer collected $511 90 wharfage for the two weeks ending June 26.

THE travel on the slackwater is steadily increasing. This is as it should be. The packets leave daily at 8 A. M. and 4 P. M.

THE steamer Ashland, Captain Kyle, left for Cincinnati with an excellent trip. The Captain was well pleased with his visit.

THE punctual packet Salt Valley, Captain Sanford, leaves Ironton this day for Pittsburgh. She will leave as advertised.

THE steamer John L. Rhoads, one of the best boats afloat, is en route for this city. Captain Vandergrift has a right to feel proud of his pet.

THE steamer Fannie Tatum took on 5,700 bbls cement at Louisville. Captain Williams was happy. The Captain will no doubt visit us again.

SEVERAL Government lights along the lower Ohio are hid by the thick growth of cottonwood. The pilots think these lights may be a good thing, but they "can't see it"—or them.

THE Memphis Avalanche says that the payment of $10,000 insurance on the lost steamer St. Francis is resisted, and her owners have been compelled to enter suit for the amount.

THE Memphis Appeal says: We learn that Captain Basket, formerly of the St. Francis, sunk near Madison last season, has purchased the Grey Eagle to take her place the coming season.

PARTIES in Memphis shook $12,000 cash at the owners of the Shannon for their boat while she was at Cincinnati, but they couldn't see it; $4,000 better would have "seen them," and the Shannon would have changed hands.

THE Dyersburg Progress says that A. M. Stevens has shipped to St. Louis this season over one million four hundred thousand feet of lumber, and Fay & Hunter on the Obion river, have shipped over one million feet.

THE New Orleans Times says: Captain Bassett, of the lower coast steamer Marie, purchased the towboat Beaufort and sent her to Madisonville on Tuesday last, for the purpose of putting her machinery in his new boat building there.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 30.—About one o'clock this morning the steam tug Sam Clubb, lying on the wharf at East St. Louis caught fire, and after being cut loose, floated down the stream, struck on a bar and burned to the water's edge. Loss not ascertained.

THE St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: The little dinky J. D., met a severe wind storm at Harrisonville, which blew her smoke stacks down. Mr. Tom Foster, her pilot, states that the wind was very strong. The J. D. was purchased by a Mr. Gray for $450, and will be used as a fishing boat at Keokuk.

MR. W. D. SMITH, patentee of the angle wheel, has been commissioned to place one of his wheels on the Dauphine, the steam tender of the United States snagboat, J. N. Macomb. The wheel is a success, and we are glad to see that its merits are recognized by Government officers.

THE Marietta Times says: The bar in the Ohio river opposite our city is getting its back up these days. The trouble, we understand, is a want of fresh water. Several towboats with their tows have laid up in the narrows, just below Harmar. Reason, not water enough in the channel to pass the mouth of the Muskingum.

Our River Correspondence.

PADUCAH, June 28, 1875.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

Steamer John L. Rhoads left St. Louis Saturday evening; stopped at Carondalet and took on about 210 tons pig metal; left there at half after three Sunday morning and got out to Cairo before dark. We are having bad, stormy weather, and laid by twice for storms after we got into the Ohio. We have about 140 tons of freight, besides the metal, mostly clay and shipstuff, all for Pittsburgh. Hoping you may have a rise at Pittsburgh so as to let us up without trouble. Yours, respectfully

JOHN C. F.

P. S.—In going down at Cairo we were the only boat at the landing, and as we passed there last evening there was no boat there, which looks very much like dull times when Cairo landing is without a good sized fleet of boats.

J. C. F.

PITTSBURGH

Commercial

A Political, Literary, Commercial and General Newspaper,

DEVOTED TO THE Best Interests of the People!

IN POLITICS,

The COMMERCIAL will hereafter, as heretofore, be devoted to the support of Republican principles, maintaining its independence within the Republican Party, and claiming the right at all times to speak freely and fearlessly on the merits of men and measures. Party government is essential to a constitutional country, and journals claiming to be independent of party are usually also independent of principle. Faithful to the great convictions and aims upon which the Republican Party was based, it is the mouthpiece of no clique or faction, supporting the party solely because it believes that party is founded on principles of Right and Justice.

THE EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

Of the COMMERCIAL will contain, from day to day, contributions from able writers upon all subjects—Political, Literary, Scientific, Legal, Commercial, Foreign and Local—in which its views will be set forth plainly and independently, keeping in view the prime aim of the paper, which is the advancement of the best interests of all sections of the country.

THE MARKETS

Will, as heretofore, receive careful attention. Full telegraphic reports of the State of Business, with Prices Current, will be received daily from the Trade Centers of this country and Europe. The Pittsburgh Market, in all its branches, will be reported fully and accurately. As a commercial journal the COMMERCIAL stands second to no paper in the country. The Financial Column will give daily the ruling rates for money, and the prices of Stocks and Bonds at all the great trading points, with much interesting statistical matter.

INTERESTING MISCELLANY,

Embracing Poems, Sketches, Incidents of Travel, etc., will find a place in the columns of the COMMERCIAL, furnishing abundance of instruction and amusement for the family circle.

ITS NEWS DEPARTMENTS

Will always contain brief but accurate reports of all the occurrences of the day. Liberal expenditures will be made in securing special telegrams and correspondence from the great news centers of the country, so that readers of the COMMERCIAL can always rely on being served with early and reliable news.

In the department devoted to the publication of Local News will be found a complete daily history of the city and its environs, gathered by a corps of careful writers and set forth in attractive style.

Larceny and Assault.

Michael McTighe appeared before Alderman Milliken yesterday and made two informations against John Carroll, one charging him with the larceny of a horse and express wagon, and the other with assault and battery. Carroll was arrested and required to enter bail for a hearing in both cases, the hearing to take place to-morrow. The parties live at No. 7 Diamond street.

Election of Teachers.

The election for teachers in the Ninth ward, Allegheny, schools, held yesterday, resulted in the choice of the following: Principal, W. McCullough; Assistant Principal, Miss Ida Tidball; teachers, Miss Rebecca Taunehill, Miss E. A. White, Miss Kittie G. McRae, Miss R. J. Jenkins, Miss Josie Derby, Miss Sadie Pete, Miss Agnes Ellis, Miss Maggie Herdman, Miss Jennie Colvin.

The Transportation of Oil.

The Conduit Company have commenced the transportation of oil over the tracks of the Western Pennsylvania Railroad, and pipe line connection with the Butler oil regions may now be considered a fixed fact. The new tank wagon went into operation yesterday. The wagon, containing twenty-five barrels, was loaded in a little over a minute, while the emptying consumed one minute and fifty-five seconds. Two additional tank wagons will be put to work immediately.

Boy Drowned.

About noon yesterday a boy named John Clark, employed as a fireman in one of the mills at Soho, Fourteenth ward, went into the Monongahela river to bathe. He had been in the water only about ten minutes when he was drowned. A young man named Frank Carey succeeded in recovering the body. An inquest was held, the Coroner's jury finding a verdict of accidental drowning. The deceased was seventeen years of age, and lived in the Twenty-fifth ward.

Storing a Train.

Before Alderman Ed. Milliken, yesterday, Mr. Thomas Drake, conductor of the McKeesport accommodation train, on the Pittsburgh, Washington, and Baltimore Railroad, made information charging Samuel Burnell, of Glenwood, with malicious mischief. It is alleged that the accused threw a large stone through a window of a car, said car being full of passengers, and that the missile struck a passenger on the hip, inflicting a severe injury. Burnell was arrested and held for a hearing.

Alleged Forgery of Vouchers.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. James P. Raeder, Special Agent of the United States Internal Revenue Department, made information before Commissioner Gamble, charging J. A. Davidson with presenting forged United States vouchers to Mr. Ed. Scull, Collector of the Sixteenth Collection district of Pennsylvania, at Somerset. Mr. Raeder has charge of the inspection of Gauger's accounts, and in the present instance it seems to have been Davidson's habit to fill up vouchers for his expenses, at an exhorbitant rate. A bench warrant will be necessary in this case.

Holiday Excursion Tickets.

The Allegheny Valley Railroad and the connecting lines between Pittsburgh and Brocton will sell excursion tickets, at greatly reduced rates, to and from all points on their roads on the 3d and 5th days of July, good to return until July 6, 1875.

This action on the part of these roads is worthy of commendation and will doubtless be appreciated by their many patrons and the public generally. The trip up the beautiful valley of the Allegheny river is truly delightful, and a large class of our citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity thus afforded them, to enjoy the excursion at comparatively small cost.

Camp Ground Picnic.

The basket picnic at the Mount Sewickley camp ground, on Saturday, July 3d, promises to be a very enjoyable affair. It is expected that all the tent owners and managers will be present, and those who wish to purchase or rent tents for the season should embrace the opportunity to meet the managers and make such arrangements as they may desire. Hacks will be on hand at Leetsdale station to convey persons at the usual camp meeting rates. This will likely be the only meeting of the managers prior to the commencement of the camp meeting, August 17th.

First Tea of 1875's Crop.

Mr. D. M. Jenkins, of the Old Tea House, No. 20 Fifth avenue, yesterday received by express a supply of "garden-grown" tea of the present season's growth. This tea is cultivated in hot houses, hence it is always the first in the market. It was shipped by steamship to San Francisco, and thence as fast as the railroad could bring it to this city. Mr. J. makes a specialty of this particular species of tea, and has built up a large trade in it. It is of very fine flavor, and will not fail to suit the palate of the most particular people. His stock of fancy groceries, fruits and canned goods is always full and choice.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

In the case of the Golla brothers, and John Hartman, cross suits for aggravated assault and battery, reported yesterday, the jury found the Gollas guilty of simple assault and battery, and Hartman guilty of misdemeanor in unlawfully wounding and cutting Golla.

On motion of Assistant District Attorney Hunter, three informations against Samuel McCrary for larceny as bailee were quashed.

James Farrell, indicted for felonious assault and battery, was convicted of misdemeanor in unlawful cutting.

Mr. R. H. Emerson was next arraigned on a charge of maintaining a public nuisance in the shape of the Pittsburgh Acid Works, located at Armstrong station on the Allegheny Valley Railroad. The prosecutor is Mr. A. H. Rowand, Jr., of Verona borough, who complains that the works are located in a thickly populated neighborhood and in close proximity to dwellings; that the odors emitted are filthy, unwholesome and injurious, so much so as to interfere with the rest of families at night in the vicinity, they being unable at times to sleep. It is also alleged to be a nuisance to the large number of passengers traveling to and from the city, on the Valley Railroad, who are obliged to pass the works each day.

Hon. F. R. Brunot was the first witness, and he testified that the business as conducted was a serious annoyance to those residing in the vicinity. A large number of witnesses have been subpœned on both sides. District Attorney Montooth and Col. Thos. M. Bayne appear for the prosecution, and Messrs. DeCamp and Slagle for the defense.

TRIAL LIST FOR TO-DAY.

IN UNION MADE STRONG.

Commencement Exercises at Washington and Jefferson College.

Dedication of the New Buildings.

Distinguished Visitors Present.

The Alumni Dinner and the Addresses.

The events of Tuesday were but the preparatory steps leading to the grand celebration of the anniversary—the dedication of the new buildings, the exercises of the graduating class and the Alumni dinner at the united colleges on the banks of the classic Catfish. The morning dawned bright and beautiful, giving promise of a day of especial loveliness. The rains of the previous day had perceptibly cooled the atmosphere, while the brightness of the sun and the beauty of the surroundings contributed to produce what might be mistaken for an Elysium by the pent up, smoke begrimed and exhausted denizen of the large city where the thermometer registers a close proximity to one hundred degrees in the shade. But while it is delightful to linger in contemplation of the natural beauties and comforts enjoyed by the visitor to Washington, the reporter must hasten on to more important matters, even as the student graduated yesterday though inclined to loiter around the hallowed precincts of his alma mater must meet the sterner duties of life in the busy world.

The residents of the place and visitors who arrived on Tuesday, and remained for the final exercises, were out early, and by eight o'clock the streets resembled the busy thoroughfares of the city, rather than the quiet avenues of the staid old borough. The excursion train from Pittsburgh arrived ten minutes past eight, with about three hundred ladies and gentlemen from this city, vicinity and distant points. The students, Alumni and all former students, in accordance with an arrangement, announced from the stage the previous evening, assembled on the college grounds, at a quarter before nine, and forming a procession, preceded by the Great Western Band, proceeded to the Town Hall to witness the commencement exercises.

Long before the arrival of this body the hall began to fill rapidly, and by the time the strains of music were heard in the distance almost every available seat in the auditorium was occupied, the fair sex being largely in the ascendency. It was a grand gala day for Washington, and the bright and smiling faces of the audience betokened anticipations of a most enjoyable and long to be remembered occasion. The stage was occupied by the Faculty, members of the graduating class and distinguished personages, among whom were Governor Jacobs, of West Virginia, Senator Cameron, Governor Hartranft, General H. H. Bingham, Hon. Jas. H. Hopkins, Dr. John W. Wallace, of New Castle, Hon. Geo. K. Anderson, of Titusville, Hon. H. H. Hoffman, of Baltimore, Hon. Thomas Ewing, Hon. T. J. Bigham, Rev. W. S. Plummer, D. D., of South Carolina, Rev. John McMillan, D. D., of Mt. Pleasant, Rev. D. X. Junkin, D. D. of New Castle, Rev. Thomas Hanna, Rev. Robt. Sherrard, D. D., Rev. Alex. Donaldson, D. D., of Indiana, Pa., Rev. S. F. Scovel, D. D., Rev. A. A. Hodge, D. D., Rev. S. J. Wilson, D. D., Rev. I. C. Pershing, D. D., Rev. A. G. McFarland, missionary to Siam, Rev. J. Alexander, missionary to Northern India, and others.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Wm. S. Plummer, of South Carolina. After the prayer considerable delay was experienced in the efforts made to accommodate with seats those arriving late. Finally when the preliminary arrangements were completed, and order restored among the bustling throng, the salutatory and Latin oration was delivered by James I. Brownson, Jr., of Washington, who, with this distinction, achieved the second honor of his class. The speaker, although youthful, acquitted himself admirably. The salutatory was appropriate in thought, elegant in diction and oratorical in its delivery. As for the Latin oration deponent saith not further than that it having been well received by the audience and applauded at its conclusion, it must have been a classic and well-timed production.

After music by the band, W. T. Cline, of Saltsburg, spoke upon the subject of "Retribution." This speaker, although possessed of a good voice, evidently lacked cultivation. His matter was dry and his declamation drawling and monotonous, his style and manner partaking rather of the school boy than of the forcible and earnest speaker who has a noble purpose to attain by his oratory. The audience, however, awarded the stereotyped applause when he finished. Next came

C. Colwell, of Kittanning, on that time-honored and favorite subject with the college youth, "Reals and Ideals." This performance was rather tame, the speaker lacking animation and volume of voice, but as the author is youthful he will have ample time to remedy his defects before arriving at the age when great things are expected of a man.

Alvan Donnan, who was assigned on the programme to come next with "Promises to Pay," was excused.

"Finis Coronat Opus," was the subject of the next speaker, Mr. S. T. Henderson, of Holt, Pennsylvania. This oration had been prepared in a satisfactory manner but was not rendered in the mellifluous style of a Cicero, the speaker's voice being harsh and constrained and his whole manner stiff and formal.

T. B. Johnston, of Brownsville, Pa., discoursed on "Individual Effort," but put forth very little effort in its delivery, except to continually move to and fro on the platform in a bashful manner, indicating that his position in front of an audience was a disagreeable and trying one. From first to last he kept his left hand under the right lappel of his tightly buttoned Prince Albert.

Next came the poet of the college, H. T. McClelland, in a meritorious rhymthical production, styled the "Clerk of Oxenford." In contrast with two or three of the previous performances this vivacious, humorous one, delivered in the happiest style, stood out in bold relief to the evident appreciation and delight of the vast assemblage, and was greeted with alternate laughter and applause.

J. B. McElroy, of Washington, Pa., followed, on the subject of "National Taste." This speaker lacked the animation to make a marked impression.

The "Power of Association" was the theme of W. E. Oller, of Kammerer, Pa. Favored by nature with a fine presence, this speaker possessed perfect self-command, was at home on the stage and was quite effective and very eloquent.

Dr. Hays now announced that Messrs. W. M. Perrin, of Independence, subject, "True Grandeur of Nations," and T. B. Swan, of Blairsville, subject, "Nationality of Law," the next in order on the printed programme, had been excused and consequently would not appear. He also announced that Jesse C. Bruce, of Florence, Pa., who was to have delivered the masters' oration, had likewise been excused. It being well known to many [illegible] the audience that Mr. Bruce is possess[illegible] of great ability, and much having bee[illegible] expected from his effort, the disappoin[illegible] at this announcement was eviden[illegible]

And now came the last ora[illegible] had been assigned the [illegible], to whom task of pronouncing [illegible] able but sad [illegible] the valedictory and formed [illegible] final separation of the class ville, [illegible] duty was satisfactorily performed by J. H. Snowden, of Wells[illegible], Ohio, who had for his theme "Sp[illegible] specialties in Studies." The subject matter was worthy of the occasion, and although the oration was spoken too rapidly, it was neatly and effectively rendered. While all the performers received floral tributes from admiring friends, the valedictorian was the most highly favored.

Dr. Hays, at the conclusion of the valedictory, announced that the Board of Trustees had conferred the degree of Bachelor of Arts on the members of the graduating class of 1875, and that of Bachelor of Science on S. E. Hays. In an appropriate address to the young gentlemen he proceeded in his capacity as President of the college to award the diplomas.

Dr. C. C. Beatty then arose and announced that the Board of Trustees had conferred a number of honorary degrees. The list of recipients was read by Dr. McKennan, Secretary of the Board, and is as follows: Rev. Samuel T. Lowrie, Professor of the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny city; Rev. Robert Stewart, Professor Theological Seminary, Newburg, N. Y.; Rev. W. T. Brugh, President Butler Academy, Butler, Pa.; Rev. D. C. Marquis, Baltimore, Md., Doctors of Divinity; Prof. J. M. Cummings, of Westminster College, Pa; Rev. Wm. Ewing, President of Canonsburg Academy, Pa., and Rev. Joseph Waugh, Principal Hollidaysburg Female Seminary, Pa., the degree of Ph. D.; Dr. E. E. Reopel, of Cleveland, O., and Dr. J. M. Cooper, of Wellsburg, W. Va., honorary degree of A. M., and Rev. Wm. J. Bridges, of Wilmington, Del., and Westley Greer, Esq., of Pittsburgh, honorary degree of A. B.

Dr. Beatty announced that the Board of Trustees had made some new arrangements with reference to the duties of some members of the faculty. He said that for some time past the chair of Latin had been unoccupied, but that Rev. Henry Woods would resume his duties as professor of the language at the next session. Rev. Alonzo Linn, Vice President of the faculty, will hereafter give his attention to the teaching of Greek and English Literature, Political Philosophy being transferred from him to President Hays.

After further announcement by President Hays, the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Alonzo Williams, D. D.

The commencement exercises were concluded at about twenty minutes to twelve. The audience experienced considerable inconvenience and delay in finding their way from the hall to the street, owing to the crowded condition of the stairway, but having safely made their exit, all started at a brisk pace for the College building, where the Alumni dinner was to be served at twelve. Upon arriving at the College, it was found that a large number of persons had already assembled there, being for the most part those who arrived on the half-past ten train from Pittsburgh, and were unable to obtain admittance to the Town Hall.

The dinner was spread in Examination Hall, located on the first floor, and being the largest room in the new building. On either end of the room two tables extended the entire width, and in the center were two others arranged in the form of a cross, the whole affording seating capacity for about three hundred guests. An abundance of substantial fare and delicacies almost innumerable had been provided foe the occasion, making the repast one well calculated to gladden thr hearts of the multitude. The tables were handsomely adorned with a profusion of flowers. At the opening of the doors there was a grand rush, and soon every seat was occupied, and many hungry wayfarers were left standing in the rotunda outside. Rev. Dr. Junkin occupied a seat at the head of the central table, Senator Cameron and Governor Hartranft being next to him on the right side, and Rev. Dr. Beatty on the left. The exercises were opened by Rev. Wm. Armand, who invoked the Divine blessing. The strictest attention of all was then given to the edibles, there seeming to be a determination to obey the injunction of Dr. Hays "Eat till you are satisfied." When all were fully satisfied Dr. Hays announced that it had been the intention to have a few post prandial addresses, but they would necessarily have to be omitted owing to the fact that the room would be needed for the accommodation of those who had not yet obtained their dinners, and that the next thing in order would therefore be the dedication at 2 P. M. Before concluding in reference to this very enjoyable part of the programme for the day, it should be stated that the ladies of Washington have from time beyond which the recollection of the oldest student runneth not to the contrary have been accustomed to give an Annual dinner to the Alumni. The following are the names of the ladies having the matter in charge this year:

Mrs. V. Harding, Mrs. Wm. Moore, Mrs. Martha Morgan, Mrs. Julia Lockhart, Mrs. G. W. Miller, Mrs. Robert Wylie, Mrs. Wm. McKennan, Mrs. Wm. Swan, Mrs. Rev. Wm. Brown, Mrs. Jas. C. Acheson, Miss Susan Hart, Miss Jennie Baird, Miss C. Wilson, Miss S. Weills, Miss M. Doak, Miss Sarah C. Sweeny.

THE DEDICATION.

It had been arranged that the dedicatory ceremonies should take place on the college steps, while a platform had been erected in the campus for the delivery of the addresses. It was finally determined, however, to have all the exercises at the latter place. The stand was located to the southwest of the new building in a grove of locusts, which afforded shade for the greater portion of the immense audience that gathered at the sound of the bell. The Great Western Band was stationed upon an elevation some distance from the platform, and rendered their portion of the programme in their usual fine style.

At precisely two o'clock Dr. Hays appeared in front of the platform and moved that Hon. Thomas Ewing, of Pittsburgh, be elected to preside over the meeting. This being unanimously carried, Judge Ewing took the chair and announced that the first thing in order would be the dedicatory address of Rev. James I. Brownson, D.D., of Washington, Pa., Vice President of the College. Dr. Brownson's remarks were as follows:

ADDRESS OF DR. BROWNSON.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Alumni and Friends:

The corporations of Washington and Jefferson College, in accepting the important trust committed to their hands by their fellow citizens through the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in the acts which united and consolidated, at this place, the two old and honored colleges of Jefferson and Washington, have not been unmindful of the progress which entered so essentially into the spirit and form of the obligations thus imposed. Through the financial stringency of these past years, this covenant has been kept in view, with steady reference alike to the internal facilities of the institution and its grounds and buildings. The advantages in the first form, so strongly demanded in these times of competition and advancement, have been already enjoyed by several classes of graduates. And now, as we stand beside the firm foundations and under the lofty towers of this elegant edifice, we invite you to see for yourselves what has been achieved in the way of outward and material provision for a generous rivalry with sister colleges. Behold in this costly and noble structure, the fine symmetry which blends beauty with adaptation, the fulness of convenience with the attraction of taste, and the combination of the minutest details of utility with the impressive unity of architectural triumph. This is the future seat and home, not of Jefferson college, nor of Washington college, as they were, but of the united college of Washington and Jefferson, one now forever in the blended history of the past—one forever also in the greater work and achievements of the future. In our emergence from the limitations of other times—times of struggle and yet of pride, as they shall live in memory—you may read the prophecy and promise of the advancement of learning and science.

We are glad to lay this offering upon the altar of Christian patriotism to-day. We ask you, one and all, to join us in dedicating it to the use and interest of sound and thorough culture, of truth and morality, of loyalty to our country, and higher than all, of Christ, in the work and progress of His revealed salvation. Here let it stand forth before the sun in its glory upon the very soil, and for the present, beside the venerable structure, where, three score and ten years ago, Matthew Brown and his youthful assistant, David Elliott, imparted classical learning to young men, some of whom came to adorn the bar and the bench, whilst others thrilled the hearts of their fellow men from the pulpit, and others still filled the high places of the State and nation. It represents in marvelous development, and yet in strange contrast, the still earlier work of McMillan and his times, begun in holy dedication to the gospel and education just a century ago. It embodies and represents the wealth and refinement of this advanced generation, starting fresh upon a new career of progress and benefit, in behalf of the nation and the church. And so ever, with purpose not changed but yet elevated, let it represent the spirit which made the structures of both the old sites—antiquated, but still sacred to memory—fountains of blessing in their day. Of the three thousand Alumni who have gone forth bearing the fruits of this culture, two-thirds survive to turn to-day in sympathy of heart to this place and this ceremony—the absent represented by the many scores who are here in person—with revived pride in the new lease of Alma Mater, life and fame and fortune. And they shall come back from year to year, as occasion may permit, from every part of our country and the world, both gray haired and youthful warriors in truth's great battles, together, to renew their spirits in holy fellowship with the sons of the future, who, in increasing numbers and with improved advantages, shall also step forth into the arena from these beautiful halls. Multitudes beside have a large and abiding share in this splendid building, and the interests it represents; but Alumni of the years that are gone and of the years that are to come, it is yours in a special sense—yours in holy trust for the uses of humanity, government, society and religion.

But why should I longer withhold the official act and declaration of this ever memorable hour?

In the name of the corporation of Washington and Jefferson College which I now represent, I declare this building, including all its halls, lecture rooms, libraries, cabinets and grounds, and including also its finely arranged and furnished society halls, dedicated to the use for which it has been erected. We shall hold it in stewardship, under our liberal charter, that we may requite our noble Commonwealth, as in all the past, in educated statesmen. Let the banner of stars and stripes floating to-day over its tower, be the signal of its history and its promise for the nation, in its government, its battle-fields, its diplomacy and its domestic policy. We set it apart to thorough mental culture and sound moral training. We give it over, as guardians of the public welfare, to learning and science in the deepest and broadest sense of truth for truth's sake. We shall hold it in trust also for the church, whose benefactions and prayers have so largely been reflected in the whole enterprise it so worthily represents, not in the purposes of bigotry, but in true evangelical devotion to the best good of men. And, last of all, we set it up as our Ebenezer, to remind ourselves and our children's children of the Lord's help hitherto, and of our supreme dependence for all time to come. In this the most solemn of all our corporate acts, we hereby dedicate it to the honor of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, one God, blessed for ever and ever, amen.

The address was foll[illegible]owed by the dedicatory prayer by Re[illegible] LL. D., of S[illegible] Rev. C. C. Beatty, D. D. the Bo[illegible] Steubenville, Ohio, President of the [illegible] of Trustees, the venerable gentleman being introduced by Judge Ewing, who paid a fitting tribute to his great services in the cause of education.

Gen. H. H. Bingham, of Philadelphia, a graduate of Jefferson College, who had been substituted by Secretary Bristow at a very late day, was next introduced by President Ewing, who stated that he was graduated in 1862, and had volunteered to fight for his country in the late rebellion, having gone out with Col. Fraser's company from Cannonsburg. General Bingham came forward and began his address, in the delivery of which he displayed a vast amount of nervous force, and gave evidence of the possession of oratorical ability of a high order.

GENERAL BINGHAM'S ADDRESS.

Thirteen years ago, as a youth just touching the marked line of manhood, I closed my college course of instruction, and like many of the classes before and since, looked out upon the wide, wide horizon of action, and, with fear and trembling, saw the first serious duties of independent labor and manly effort. This outlook was in many respects like unto that which all had seen who had gone before, but in many other phases sadly and sorrowfully different. The nation, so long a Union in the broadest sense of the word, was almost rent in twain, and the land was covered with the lurid lights and dark shadows of internecine war and civil strife. The professions and civil business relations of all classes of men were depleted of their ablest representatives, and the voice of a people in anguish, yet in the full power of earnestness, was calling upon the youth of the land to come forward and defend the faith of the fathers of the Republic that the heritage of free institutions might be ours to give as it had been ours to receive. In the years that had been given my college mates and myself to be favored with the instruction of a carefully selected curriculum, one most important of all lessons was continually pervading each study and surrounding every companionship—most positive in determining and maturing character, most potent in forming the correct estimate of duty, obligation, and responsibility—obedience to law, local, State, and national: recognition of order and authority: at all times to quit ourselves like men. That was the lesson of every hour, day, and year. How well it was taught, and how well its teachings were followed, need no special declaration to this community and to you, my hearers. The loved name of Professor John Fraser, and the many men of Jefferson who throughout the whole war performed deeds of service and duty, are most familiar to you all. It is my special privilege to join with my college mates and companions his command. Their record is marked in almost every household throughout this county. How few of them are here to-day! Disease and death made sad havoc in their ranks, and loving friends and relatives mourn the loss of the unreturning brave. That college furnished, as institutions of learning have ever furnished, men ready to serve and save the nation. In riper manhood I am honored to-day in being permitted to stand on almost the same classic ground. But what a change has taken place! The bitter and bloody struggle of warring sections and States has passed away, and a reunited people still exist, mightier as a nation, greater in the world's brotherhood, and grander in their conception of free institutions and the Republic's destiny.

"All, all are gone—the old familar faces!"

The joyous companions of my early life who survive have become the staid, conservative, quiet citizens, and the very school of learning itself, as a distinct college, has merged into this honored and renowned institution. But those connected with either of the old colleges can here contemplate with pride the existence of the new, and rejoice in this which is to them still their alma mater. Those who controlled the destiny of these two institutions, after years of deliberation, have wisely, in the cause of education, deemed a union best for the good of all, and their action in the construction of these noble buildings, bearing the name jointly of Washington and Jefferson, receives the warm and hearty approval of every alumnus. The schools of learning established in the towns of Washington and Canonsburg almost a century ago, and the successor of which this college now is, are identified with that era in American history now being commemorated throughout this broad land. The Centennial of the nation leads us back in thought to the period of our college birth and, sheltered as it is under the honored names of Washington and Jefferson, teaches us that as their union in labor and work was for the highest conception of civil government, so may we hope that the union of these institutions may give to the world the highest conception of scholarship and manly training. Washington and Jefferson—the soldier and the statesman. Of all men called to the field of public action in America one hundred years ago, we are indebted to the triumph and success of the revolution to none in a greater degree than to them. Their names are inseparably connected with the establishment of American independence. The young Jefferson—trained in that school of Virginia statesmen, which was led by Patrick Henry, whose eloquence he had often listened to, and whose burning words kindled a patriotic flame in his youthful heart—was fated that, under this continual inspiration, he should pen that immortal state paper that proclaimed the equality of mankind, that asserted the rights of men, and the undying purpose of the heroic leaders of the infant nation to maintian, by pledging their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor. Imagine his joy when, upon arriving at Philadelphia to attend Congress, he was informed that Washington had been appointed Commander-in-chief of all the armies for the defense of America. The joy he felt was universal; and although it was asked in Parliament, "Who is George Washington?" and no answer given, America was ready with an answer. He was the stripling who saved by his heroism the remnant of Braddock's army. He was the young buckskin who taught British officers how to fight. Parliament learned at a later day—for he was the general to whom Cornwallis surrendered himself and army. The question has never been asked since that time, for, if there be one name in all our land revered above all others, it is his.

"His fame within this land is dwelling,
His deeds the mountain winds are telling."

Unity of purpose for the preservation of liberty gave the fulness of success. The wrongs done at Boston were resented at Williamsburg. Virginia took upon her bosom the blow aimed at the heart of Massachusetts. Hancock stood by Henry—Henry stood by Hancock. Faneuil Hall and the House of Burgesses sounded the alarm, and called a nation to arms to battle for the rights of all men of all nations. The historian has written with his pen of genius and truth the struggle, the contest, and the victory. The painter has limned upon the canvas the faces of the martyred dead, and the poet has anthemed in melody and song the joy of triumph, softened by the sadness and sorrow of loss. In the words of our historian, "they fulfilled their duty, not from the accidental impulse of the moment; their action was the slowly ripening fruit of Providence and time. Their names are held in grateful remembrance, and the expanding millions of their countrymen renew and multiply their praises from generation to generation. And now, while the nation is starting upon a new life reunited—the remembrance of the olden time blotting out all thought of civil strife and struggle of the past—how peculiarly appropriate it is for us to stand here to-day and dedicate these halls of learning, welding together for all time to come the earthly names of those who now in the spirit land are joined together by God's work throughout eternity. The State becomes only great when the citizen obeys the law intelligently, knowing its broadest import and significance. Usefulness is the handmaid of knowledge; education is the companion of whom we never weary; intelligence sits side by side with industry; safety is best assured when accompanied with balanced judgment; labor, workgrowth, development, is the problem of life: few solve it to its highest solution. The patriotism of Washington and the statesmanship of Jefferson gave us a government and a destiny as a people. This good that has been given can only be held by the strong arm of activity, and the brain developed of study and labor. Remember that the patriot statesman looked with satisfaction upon a life that joined civic usefulness with scholastic effort. His own pen indited his highest conception of eulogy.

"Here lies buried Thomas Jefferson,
Author of the Declaration of Independence,
Of the statutes of Virginia for religious freedom,
And father of the University of Virginia."

He gave government in form for his people, but gave them education to light the way for its guidance, development, and safety. From out of the colleges of the land, trained under the influence of good men, will come the manhood that must mold the future destinies of the Republic. The names of the highest examples of our history will fall daily from your students' lips. Let the examples of these great men—their teachings of sacrifice, their patriotism, their devotion to the right, their abhorrence of the wrong, their love of liberty—ever be as familiar as their oft-repeated names. Upon the bench, at the bar, on the rostrum, and in the mart will they stand, protecting the right, defending the people and uttering the law; meeting upon the same common ground, rich with their varied learning, they will be enabled to check the career of disease, bring back the glow of health to the worn and sunken cheek, and save from the fell destroyer the much-loved one, and more loved because of suffering. But above and beyond all this honor, fame and work well done, which the future holds in store for your noble sons, there will come from out of your portals a body of men who will carry for all time your crowning glory. Talents and lives consecrated to fallen manhood, laborers in God's vineyard, defenders of the faith, men undeterred by pestilence, war, or famine; kneeling at the bedside of the dying in distant lands, and cheering the parting soul with benediction and prayer. Your work is not only man's work, but God's work. Fulfil the measure and demand of this great labor; then indeed will your union be blessed—then indeed will the work you have consummated be built on foundations lasting and strong. Then indeed will you deserve "esto perpetua."

General Bingham having finished Dr. Hays, stepped out to the front of the platform and read the following letters expressive of the regrets of the writers at their inability to be present:

LETTERS OF REGRET.

AUGUSTA, MAINE, June 24, 1875.

MY DEAR MR. PRESIDENT—The recent railroad accident near New York city left me in a disabled condition, but I have postponed writing till the last moment in the hope that I might fulfill my promise and gratify my desire to be with you at commencement. But my physician prohibits the journey, and indeed I do not require his advice to know that it would not be prudent for me to leave home as I now am. I had a severe hurt on my right side, and though I am able to move round, I am not at liberty to use my voice at all, so that if I could even be with you I should be compelled to play "dummy." If there be any assemblage of friends present with whom a word from me would have weight, pray speak for me, and say to them that one all pervading sense of affection and gratitude posseses me when I recall the dear old college and remember all it did for me. Its thorough instruction, its revered and beloved faculty, its high moral tone, its good old stiff Presbyterian discipline are all to me the most precious of memories—and it is a severe disappointment to me that I cannot be with you to mingle my congratulation for the future and recall the thousand pleasant recollections of the past. My brief address would have been equally divided between the two—and I ask you to be the medium of conveying to old friends and to new ones all the cordial greetings that you can command language to express for me and in my name.

Very faithfully, your friend
J. G. BLAINE.

REV. GEORGE P. HAYS, D. D.,
President of Washington and Jefferson College.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, June 15, '75.

MY DEAR SIR—I have received yours of last Saturday, and avail myself of the earliest moment to say that it now seems improbable that I will be able to be absent from here on the 30th. I find that the re-organization of this Department which is to take place on the 1st of July, under an act passed at the last session of Congress, will require me to be here at that time. You will remember when you first mentioned the matter to me, I told you my acceptance must be considered conditional, and that I could not promise to be with you on the occasion of the commencement exercises, unless the public business entrusted to my care would permit it. It now seems certain that I cannot be absent without detriment to the interests of the department, and I beg you to accept my regrets, and assurances of the disappointment which I feel in being prevented from accepting your kind invitation.

Very truly yours,
B. H. BRISTOW.

REV. GEO. P. HAYS, Washington, Pa.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 22, 1875.

Rev. George P. Hays, D.D., President of Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa.:

DEAR SIR—The President is in receipt of yours of the 19th, and directs me to say in reply that it would afford him pleasure to accept your invitation but that he cannot do so at this time. He requests me to communicate his thanks for the kind invitation.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,
O. G. BABCOCK, Secretary.

TOWANDA, June 24, 1875.

Rev. Geo. P. Hays, D.D., President Washington and Jefferson College:

MY DEAR SIR—Your kind invitation to be present at the anniversary exercises of Washington and Jefferson College is received.

It would give me pleasure to witness the interesting ceremonies. In such reunion I had hoped to revive many pleasant recollections of my youthful days.

Now I see, my engagements are such as to deprive me of that pleasure.

I hope and trust the college has entered on a most prosperous future.

With a strong desire for its prosperity, and kind regard for yourself personally.

I remain, yours truly,
ULYSSES MERCUR.

BERKLEY SPRINGS, W. VA., June 26, 1875.

MY DEAR SIR.—Yours of the 18th, after passing through the postoffices of Covington and Cincinnati has at last reached me at this place. I would gladly accept the invitation with which you have honored me if it were in my power, but I am obliged to decline.

With best wishes for the continued prosperity of my revered Alma Mater,

I am, dear sir, very truly yours,
HENRY STANBERY.

REV. GEORGE P. HAYS,
Washington Pa.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21, 1875.

Rev. George P. Hays, President of Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa.:

MY DEAR SIR—I have your kind invitation to attend the anniversary exercises of Washington and Jefferson College during the coming week.

It would give me great pleasure to be present, but my engagements here are such that it will be impossible for me to be with you.

Regretting that I cannot avail myself of your courtesy, I am,

Very truly yours,
THOMAS A. SCOTT.

CINCINNATI, June 21, 1875.

Rev. Geo. P. Hays, D.D., Washington, Pa.:

MY DEAR SIR—I am just in receipt of your very kind favor of the 18th inst., inviting me to be present at the dedication of the new college buildings on the 29th. I can think of nothing that would give me greater pleasure than to be present on that occasion. My love for my alma mater does not grow dim with the years, but rather brighter and better. I am compelled, however, by my duties to absent myself. I am sure that you will have a grand, good time, which is the precursor of a prosperous future.

I am very truly yours, &c.,
M. B. HAGANS.

GOVERNOR HARTRANFT'S ADDRESS.

Governor Hartranft was next introduced, and spoke substantially as follows:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: I am very happy that I have had no official business to detain me, and I am still happier that I did not get into a railroad accident. However, I came very near not being here. When I picked up the papers at Pittsburgh this morning I found that Messrs. Blaine and Bristow could not be here and that General Bingham and myself were to take their places. If General Bingham had not been coming I would not have been here, but I knew that he would be equal to the occasion. I congratulate the people here on one thing, and that is the union of the two colleges. There are in the State eighteen colleges, and if we had enough money to carry them on and enough students to fill them we would be happy, but such, I am sorry to say is not the case. Such was not the case here, and a wise plan was taken when they were united. I honor the men who brought about the union, and I hope nothing may occur to mar the prosperity of the institution. If any still have feelings of dissatisfaction, I hope they will bury them and go on to make this one of the most prosperous colleges in the land. It is not proper for me to say much more, as there are so many distinguished Alumni of Washington and Jefferson colleges here. But I would like to say one thing, and that is, that no subject has been so near my heart as education, and no one has given me more anxious thought. As executive and as a citizen, I have felt a deep interest in our schools and colleges.

From this institution you have sent forth into the nation trained, cultured and equipped minds that have left their impress on the times. And the lesson of patriotism has been inculcated here, and General Bingham, whom you have just heard, is one to whom it was taught. Men whose minds are enriched from these institutions should remember that more is expected of them than of others, and they should give their attention to the solution of the great political problems of the country, to the government of the States and the country, and to the importance of the duties of citizenship. They should pursue politics not for gain, but for the higher duty the constitution imposes, the understanding of which is a moral and political responsibility. At the conclusion of this brief address the Governor was the recipient of the hearty applause of his hearers.

GOVERNOR JACOBS' REMARKS.

Judge Ewing next introduced Governor John J. Jacobs, of West Virginia, who said that when he crossed the line from his little State to this great one he had no intention of making a speech, but that he accepted the compliment for his State. They were now laying the foundation of his little State, while ours was old and prosperous. He hoped that his State would follow our great example. They were now building up schools and colleges in West Virginia. The speaker said that he represented Union and Confederacy, but both now recognize one Union. He was glad that the great Virginia names of Washington and Jefferson had been accepted for the college. He was not an alumnus, but everywhere he had met the alumni. At the bar, on the bench, in the legislative halls, in the highest walks of life, and wherever found they maintain the right. The graduates of these institutions having gone out North and South and East and West, had made their mark. Alluding to the religious teachings of the college, he expressed the hope that the graduates of Washington and Jefferson may never spread abroad the doctrines of a metaphysical infidelity to sap the foundations of order. The speaker would carry back to his State the feeling of good will and courtesy extended to him and say that there is no bloody chasm separating our State from West Virginia.

SENATOR CAMERON'S SPEECH.

Judge Ewing said he would now introduce a man whose name was as familiar to all as the name of Highland Chief, alluding of course to Senator Cameron, who proceeded to favor the assemblage with a few remarks. Mr. Cameron said that he had no more idea of being there than of going up in a balloon, and now that he was there he did not know what to say, but he thought that the best thing he could say, was that he was glad to be present. He then pointed out the beauties of the surrounding country and spoke of the fertility of the soil and the prosperity of the people of Washington county. In the opinion of the speaker one of the wisest things that could have been done was to unite the old colleges. It might have been better in the beginning to have two colleges in the county as it produced a spirit of rivalry and insured cheap tuition. He was told that over three thousand students have been graduated at the two institutions. This could not have been done with one. Pointing to the old college building which stands to the south of the new edifice, he said there is that old building with its simple doric columns, and people said upon coming here when it was new, "My God, what a building you have there." The day will come when the new one may be as much out of date as the old one now is. At the time the old one was erected there were but 1,200,000 people in Pennsylvania, now there are four millions, and people the like of which the world never saw. The United States will one day have two hundred millions of people, not such as you find in Russia and China, but a God fearing people, the result of such buildings as that over yonder. The Senator then made some humorous allusions to the ladies of Washington, concluding with the remark that on a former visit he saw two hundred ladies on horseback, managing the animals as if they were so many machines. This they could not have done if they had not been educated. The applause was loud and prolonged when the Senator resumed his seat.

Dr. Pershing, Hon. Thos. J. Bigham and Rev. Dr. Plummer, also delivered extempore addresses, all of which were well received. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. A. G. Wallace, of New Brighton, Pa., after which the crowd dispersed. This concluded the exercises for the day. Last night a grand hop was given by the students in the Town Hall.

The majority of the visitors however left on the excursion train to this city, which started at a quarter before six. And thus ended an eventful day in the history of our Western Pennsylvania College.

Our representative takes this occasion to express his thanks to W. W. Smith Esq., for a delightful drive to points of interest outside the borough and for hospitable entertainment at his residence.

FROM WILLIAMSPORT.

United States Court Cases—Interesting Notes.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., June 30th 1875.

The case of the United States vs. Thompson and Postlewaite, of Huntingdon county, was resumed in the District Court yesterday. The case was argued by Hon. R. Milton Speer, of Huntingdon, for the defendants, and U. S. Attorneys Reed and Wilson for the United States. The jury found a verdict of not guilty. The case has been on trial since Thursday, and will cost the defendants about $2,000 for witnesses and attorney fees, although they are acquitted.

In the case of the United States vs. Philip Groef, of Clinton county, indicted for selling liquor without a license, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Joseph Hillsber, of Williamsport, plead guilty to a charge of selling liquor without a license, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and thirty days imprisonment in the Lycoming jail.

In the case of Robert H. Chase, of Williamsport, selling liquor without license, the jury could not agree and were dismissed by Judge McCandless.

In the Circuit Court the jury in the case of B. S. Benson vs. Peter Herdic, returned a verdict in favor of the latter. It was an action brought for the recovery of about $5,000 for pipe sold Mr. Herdic, which he alleged to be useless. The plaintiff, a Baltimore manufacturer, was allowed the pipe.

An important case was opened in this court this morning, one which involves the sum of $72,000. It seems M. C. Mercur, of Towanda, Pa., while President of the Sullivan and Erie Railroad Company, indorsed to the amount of $72,000 in order to pay interest due from the company. Mr. G. W. Warner, a Boston banker, negotiated the notes and now brings action for the recovery of the amount. The case, which is on trial before Judge Strong, will occupy several days. The District Court will adjourn this morning.

The Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania delegations have been the most prompt in attending to their duties. The officials of the District Court will leave here to-day.

A correspondence from Williamsport would be incomplete without some word about Mr. Peter Herdic, the most energetic, enterprising and successful man of this "neck of timber," and a most perfect type of the snap and go ahead spirit of the American citizen. There is not a single branch of industry, not a business of importance with which either himself or his capital is not connected. He came to this city in 1854, and by his indomitable energy and sound judgment the beautiful town owes its fame if not its existence. He is the founder and present proprietor of the gas works, originated the present main water works, and owns them together with half of the other works, and built the street railway. The Herdic House was built by the gentleman whose name it bears. He also laid out the present western end of the town, which vies if not equals in beauty and magnificence the finest avenue in the East End of the smoky city.

FORTY-EIGHT.

CITY MATTERS IN BRIEF.

THE Water Committee will meet this evening, when the matter of the cracked valve chambers will be inquired into.

A REPORT of the commencement exercises at Beaver College, prepared for this issue, was crowded out. It will appear to-morrow.

CHIEF ENGINEER HAMILL will decline to issue passes or leave of absence to firemen from Friday evening until Tuesday morning. Every precaution is to be taken in case of fire on the Fourth.

YESTERDAY Officer McIntyre, of the Allegheny police, arrested a boy named Chas. Gould for bathing in the river near the railroad bridge. Mayor Phillips fined the offender five dollars and costs.

A MAN named Taylor, employed at the Pittsburgh Locomotive and Car Works on Beaver avenue, Allegheny, lost a finger and thumb yesterday afternoon, by having them caught and crushed in some portion of the machinery.

AN unknown man, evidently insane, was found yesterday morning, lying upon the pavement at the corner of Stockton avenue and Arch street, Allegheny. He was taken to the lock-up, and will be sent to the insane hospital.

J. N. MCCULLOUGH, Esq., General Manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, together with several other railroad officials, started last evening on an inspection tour over the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Railroad.

JOHN and Emma Fredericks, at whose house on the South Side such an assortment of goods was recovered by the police, entered bail before Mayor McCarthy yesterday morning in the sum of $4,000, for a hearing next Friday.

THE extension of the water mains of the Monongahela Water Company to the hill wards of the South Side, from the reservoir above Brownstown to the one to be erected on Mount Washington, are being rapidly laid. Already 4,000 feet of pipe are laid, and the work will be completed at the time stated.

ON TUESDAY afternoon some boys saturated a dog with turpentine and then one of them set fire to the poor animal. The occurrence took place on Vine street, near Wylie avenue. The dog was shot by a policeman, and the officers of the Humane Society are looking after the boys.

INHALATION IN CONSUMPTION.

Testimonial from a Baltimore Merchant.

PITTSBURGH, PA., June 28, 1875.

Ten years ago I was very low from Consumption. My family and other physicians old me my case was hopeless, and I believed I must soon die.

At this time my attention was called to Dr. J. A. Hunter's method of treating this disease by Inhalation and his remarkable successes, and I decided to place myself under his care, although I had little hope that anything would benefit me.

I commenced to improve at once, and in a few months gained substantial health, which ultimately became as good, if not better, than ever before. As evidence of the amount of benefit I have received, I will state that when I first went to Dr. Hunter I weighed but 117 pounds, (was 26 years of age) and measured 32 inches around the chest. I now weigh 204 pounds and measure 39 inches around the chest.

I consider my recovery remarkable, and attribute all to Dr. Hunter's wonderful system of treatment.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic.
In the atmosphere experienced here during the summer months, the lethargy produced by the heat takes away the desire for wholesome food, and frequent perspirations reduce bodily energy, particularly those suffering from the effects of debilitating diseases. In order to keep a natural, healthful activity of the system, we must resort to artificial means. For this purpose Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is very effectual. A few doses will create an appetite and give fresh vigor to the enervated body. For dyspepsia, it is invaluable. Many eminent physicians have doubted whether dyspepsia can be permanently cured by the drugs which are generally employed for that purpose. The Sea Weed Tonic in its nature is totally different from such drugs. It contains no corrosive minerals or acids; in fact it assists the regular operations of nature, and supplies her deficiencies. The tonic in its nature so much resembles the gastric juice that it is almost identical with that fluid. The gastric juice is the natural solvent which, in a healthy condition of the body, causes the food to be digested; and when this juice is not excreted in sufficent quantities, indigestion, with all its distressing symptoms, follows. The Sea Weed Tonic performs the duty of the gastric juice when the latter is deficient. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic sold by all druggists.

Celery and Chamomile.
Dr. C. W. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills are prepared expressly to cure headaches, neuralgia and nervousness, and will cure any case no matter how obstinate it may be, of either sick, nervous or dyspeptic headache, or neuralgia, nervousness and sleeplessness. Sold by all druggists. Harris & Ewing, agents for Pittsburgh.

Headache.
It is an established fact that the extract of cranberries and hemp combined by Dr. Miller, 327 Spruce street, Philadelphia, Pa., permanently cures the most obstinate cases of dyspeptic, nervous or sick headache, and is an absolute specific for Neuralgia and Nervousness. Prepared in pills. Fifty cents a box. Sent by mail. R. E. Sellers & Co., 45 Wood street, Pittsburgh. TTHS

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Duprez & Benedict's Minstrels begin a short engagement at the Opera House tomorrow evening, July 2. This company is so well and favorably known that a successful visit may be safely predicted for them.

ON Tuesday afternoon a cock fight took place in the vicinity of the new Water Works foundations, and was being enjoyed by several young men when Mechanical Engineer Lowry interfered. James Henderson objected and took hold of Mr. Lowry. Mr. Lowry yesterday prosecuted Henderson before the Mayor for assault and battery.

A FRAME stable near the corner of Jackson and Buena Vista streets, Allegheny, belonging to Morritz Krause, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning about half-past four o'clock. Loss about $300. No insurance. It is strongly suspected that an incendiary caused the mischief.
